Overview

About Cove Park

Cove Park is a residency for national and international artists working in all art forms and at every career stage. It is located on an outstanding rural site overlooking Loch Long in Argyll on Scotland's beautiful west coast.

Fiction and non-fiction writers, poets, playwrights, and literary translators have been a key part of our programme since its launch in 2000. Cove Park supports research and the development of new work, hosting those writing in all languages and paying particular attention to Gaelic and Scots. Former residents include Margaret Atwood, Ann Carson, Rachel Cusk, Fred D'Aguiar, Rodge Glass, Rody Gorman, Alasdair Gray, Jeda Pearl Lewis, Kirsty Logan, Rona Macdonald, Heather Parry, Andrew Rubens, Geetanjali Shree, Nicola White, and Louise Welsh, amongst many others. We also devise international writing and translation exchange residencies and host public readings and events. Please see our website for further information on our current programme and images of Cove Park's site and facilities. Our FAQ page answers general questions on Cove Park's residencies and access.

Equalities, Diversity & Inclusion

We want our residencies, programmes and resources to be open, inclusive and welcoming to all. We continue to assess how we work towards achieving greater equality and representation within all levels of our organisation and across all programmes. Where possible, we offer our open residencies at subsidised rates to help alleviate financial barriers alongside our awarded residencies which provides appointed artists with fees, travel and material stipends, visa support, and access allowances when required.

Cove Park aims to provide a safe and positive environment for everyone, and to actively dismantle discrimination based on age, disability, gender identity, marriage or civil partnership status, pregnancy or parental status, race including skin colour, nationality, ethnic or national origin, religion or belief, sex, and sexual orientation. Additionally, we aim to dismantle discrimination based on accent, educational background, gender expression, hair texture and hairstyle, immigration status, language ability, markings and/or tattoos connected to spiritual rituals from pre-colonial cultural practices, neurodiversity, physical and mental health, size, and socio-economic status or background.

As language, terms, and expressions inevitably evolve, Cove Park is committed to reviewing this statement regularly – and as often as it becomes appropriate – with our local, national and international communities.
